Location

The property - by the waterfront and next to the Port Rives Gauche.

A few minutes walk away from the port are a new selection of stylish but simple restaurants serving smoked moules, oysters and wine. There is a water sports area where you can paddle board, kayak or learn to wind surf! Also if travelling with small children there is a lovely park and BBQs for all to use.

Marseillan is a lovely port and a stopping point for those travelling along the Canal du Midi. Steeped in history Marseillan is possibly the oldest village in France. The area was originally settled by the Greeks more than 2500 years ago and was a very active Roman commercial centre.

With an old village it is still relatively unknown but once you know about it beware as you will want to keep coming back! There are about 15-20 places to eat, shops selling everything you need - boulangeries, pharmacies, greengrocers, fish, meat and everyday essentials (all within a short walk).

Travel a little further afield and you can visit the old port of Sete, historical Pezenas, Carcassonne, Aigues Mortes, riverside villages, mountains, gorges and sweet villages such as Bouzigues aptly named for a bouzy, fishy lunch.
